BLAZE DESTROYS HISTORIC SCHOOL

Arson suspected in fires at Grant County Park

By Jamie Baker-Nantz
Editor

Connie Taylor is mad.

Her anger bubbled over as she stared at hours upon hours of hard work that are now nothing more than a pile of soot, ashes and burned, twisted metal.

"It's a sad day for Grant County and I'm glad I didn't see it on fire because it would have just been too hard," Taylor said.

Taylor's gaze was long and hard at what used to be the Dry Ridge Consolidated Colored School, which was destroyed in a suspicious blaze around 1:52 a.m. on Oct. 14.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Grant County Fiscal Court and the Grant County Historical Society are each offering a $1,000 reward for information about a fire on Oct. 14 at Grant County Park. Call the Grant County Sheriff's Office at 859-824-3333 with tips or information.

The Grant County Fiscal Court and Grant County Historical Society are each offering a $1,000 reward for information leading the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the fire.

The wooden frame structure was fully engulfed when firefighters from Crittenden, Dry Ridge, Williamstown and Piner arrived.

The fire spread to the Rice Chapel, located next to it, and damaged the exterior wall, as well as three windows. There was some water damage on the inside of the church.

ELECTION NEWS

The Grant County News and Grant County Chamber of Commerce hosted a candidates forum on Oct. 11 at Williamstown High School. The evening featured candidates for state representative, state senator, the U.S. House of Representatives 4th Congressional District Seat, city council, circuit clerk and school board.

The forum was taped by Williamstown Cable and will be shown at 8 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 19 and Saturday, Oct. 20 on Williamstown Channel 16 or Insight Channel 21.

The Grant County News will feature more information about the Nov. 6 election in upcoming issues, including candidates profiles. This is a sampling of comments the candidates made on a variety of topics.

NRAgate? Hammons, Linder square off over endorsement

By Bryan Marshall
Staff Writer

Things got lively between state representative candidates Brian Linder and Wanda Crupper Hammons during the Oct. 11 candidates forum sponsored by the Grant County News and Grant County Chamber of Commerce.

Hammons and Linder, who are looking to replace the retiring Royce Adams, were the final candidates at the forum at Williamstown High School.

While the debate began smoothly with discussions about pension reform, right to work and education, the talk heated up when it turned to whether or not either candidate was endorsed by the National Rifle Association (NRA.)

In the days leading up to the forum, criticisms surfaced about Hammons' large campaign signs touting her as "NRA Member, NRA Endorsed."

The signs feature a small disclaimer explaining that she was the only candidate endorsed by the NRA for the primary race.

MEET THE CANDIDATES 2012

STATE REPRESENTATIVE - 61ST DISTRICT

DEMOCRAT
Wanda Hammons

PENSION REFORM - "There is a task force going on right now to decide what our choices are going to be. As far as for our current employees that we have, our teachers, our retired teachers, I say we don't bother your pension. . . . But, we are going to have to change current pension plans."

MORAL COMPASS - ""The character that you carry, your Christian faith, doing things the right way, your honesty, looking someone in the eye and shaking their hand and letting them know how you really feel about things. . . I'm middle class like anyone else and I can relate really well with the people of the 61st district."

PENSION REFORM - "There are several states who are going through pension reform and not one of them have raised taxes on the public to pay for the mistakes that have been made in the past. I will promise not to raise taxes to fix the pension plan."

MORAL COMPASS - "My moral compass is the Bible. I take ethics and integrity very seriously. I've been on the fiscal court for six years and we've had controversial issues, but I've always did what I felt was the right thing to do because I am the one that has to go to bed and lay my head down at night and go to sleep."

Republican
Brian Linder

STATE SENATOR -17TH DISTRICT

PAY CUT - "I think the record that our legislature has had over the last 10 years has shown more often than not they have been able to enact budget legislation. That is the single thing that they are required to do constitutionally."

SCHOOLS - "I think the individual school districts should have the latitude about how they run their schools. There are different methods assessing effectiveness that I think should be utilized at a local level. You make the decisions about how your school district moves forward."

DEMOCRAT
David Holcomb

Republican
Damon Thayer

PAY CUT- "We did recently take no pay for a special session. We've made sure that the pay freezes that have been in place for state employees have also applied to those in the Kentucky State Senate. I'm also working hard to appeal the legislative loophole on legislative pensions."

SCHOOLS - "I'm a big believer that the way our schools our run should be left up to the states and the school boards in our local school districts. I was a co-sponsor of the bill that once and for all eliminated the CATS test, which tested the schools and not the students, and replaced it with the ACT so parents, students and teachers know how the student is doing and can follow their progress."

GRANT COUNTY CIRCUIT CLERK

DEMOCRAT
Shirley Wilson

CHANGES TO OFFICE - "I think it would be really great (to open office longer) but Frankfort frowns on it. They want to save money. It would cost my three deputies plus one or two bailiffs having to work. The AOC, which is Administrative Office of the Courts, has said to please cut your hours as much as you could but still be able to serve the public. That's what I've done."

EXPERIENCE - "I've been honored and blessed to be your circuit clerk. I do have the experience it requires to run the office."

CHANGES TO OFFICE - "One of the first changes I plan to make is to open the office an additional Saturday. A lot of people had expressed to me that it's been hard to get to the office during the hours it's open."

EXPERIENCE - "The clerk's office is ready for new leadership... We've heard a lot of complaints. I can offer a fresh prospective on how the public feels outside those courthouse walls."

Republican
Tina Melton

Kathleen and Clifton Webster

Spegals celebrate 60 years

Eunice Lawrence and Harry (Pete) Spegal were married on Oct. 25, 1952.

After Pete's service in the U.S. Army in Stettgar, Germany, they were married in Lawrenceberg, Ind.

After living in Latonia until 1958, they moved to the Lawrence Farm in Mt. Zion, where they still reside.

They have three daughters, Linda Baker of Mt. Zion, Kimberly and Kerry Curry of Dry Ridge and Karen Spegal of Crescent Springs. They also have six grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

They are active at Mt. Zion Baptist Church. " We know God has blessed us through 60 years," Eunice said.

Websters celebrate 70 years

Kathleen Lawrence and Clifton Webster were married in Georgetown by Bro. George Smith, the Clifton's former pastor at Concord Baptist Church on Oct. 17, 1942.

Shortly after their marriage, Clifton was called to serve in the U.S. Army. He served during WWII as an amphibious tank driver in the Leyte and Okiwana Invasion. Kathleen was employed as a telephone director.

When the war ended, they settled in Berry with Clifton employed by the L and N Railroad. This was where their three children were born.

In 1958, they moved to Knoxville in Pendleton County and are members of the Knoxville Baptist Church. This year, they both celebrated their 90th birthday.

Their children are Lawrence Clinton and Debbie of York, Pa., Charles and Katsie Baird of Mt. Zion and Ricky of Erlanger. They have four grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

They now reside in Colonial Gardens in Florence. They still enjoy their life together.

OUR OPINION

Free fall clean up means no excuse for trashy messes

Next week marks the annual fall clean up for Grant County. It's a perfect opportunity for citizens to get rid of general garbage and bulky waste and the best part is it won't cost you anything to participate.

Items will be picked up on your normal garbage collection day Oct. 22 through Oct. 26. The only requirements are the items should be neatly organized, bagged, bundled or tied and not exceed 75 pounds.

The clean up does not include liquids, tires, oils, liquid paints, solvents or pesticides.

For those with old, broken down, bulky appliances, these items will be collected Oct. 29 through Nov. 2 on your normal pick up day.

Appliances must be locked or latched doors must be removed before they are set out and they should be empty of all materials.

For all freon containing appliances, call 859-824-3050 to schedule pick up.

Grant County is lucky to have this program, which is sponsored by Republic Services, Grant County Solid Waste, the Grant County Fiscal Court and the Grant County News because it requires little effort to have a major impact.

With disposal like this available, literally at your door step, there's no excuse for having a trashy home or throwing garbage into a hollow, especially when it costs nothing other than a little effort to get it to the curb.

Editorials published in the Grant County News are the collective opinion of the News editorial team.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

Age is a question of mind over matter…

Camille
MCCLANAHAN
Editorial Assistant

Recently I turned 27, so I thought maybe I needed to go to the eye doctor as I started to notice my vision was slipping. I always thought of myself as fortunate when it came to the matter of glasses because everyone has them.

So I drudgingly made the appointment and off I went to the eye doctor, I was due for my check-up anyway. I kept reasoning and arguing with myself and almost canceled the appointment half a dozen times. I knew deep down I would walk out with some not so good news but I was hopeful that the doctor would tell me it was just me being me and that I was fine.

If all went well, I could continue to pretend that I was closer to turning 18 rather than 30. Not that having glasses are a bad thing necessarily, for me it was a sign that I'm getting older. The verdict is one of my eyes, my vision is far-sighted while in the other I'm near-sighted. He did mention that my prescription was a teeny, tiny one and it was't like I was losing my sight.

So as they dilated my eyes, which is an odd experience all it's own, I wondered what kind of an impact these things would cause on my daily life and then suddenly I couldn't see far away.

I'm having trouble seeing and now I had to pick a pair of glasses that didn't make me look dorky with only the help of a nice man who, let's face it, knew nothing about my style. I wanted something that made me look smart. I figured if I have to have these things might as well play it up, right?

So I sat there looking drugged and out of it, wondering if I made the right decision on the glasses and just how much this little inconvenience would cost me. I despise spending money on myself. I guess you could say I'm frugal.

I never paid much attention to people with glasses but as I left I started searching everyone's face I came across thinking any minute I was going to be reprimanded for staring. But this was a shock, all I could do was hope I didn't look like a complete idiot in my new glasses as I had to wear them while reading and on the computer.

A few weeks later, I picked them up and the moment of truth came. What would they feel like? What would they look like? What would people think? What would my daughter think? Her opinion is what mattered the most. Funny how our kids opinions mean the most to us even if they are little.

So I dutifully put glasses on, as I went to get my daughter off the bus. Let me tell you, She didn't even make it off the bus before she pointed and laughed and said "Mommy, you look funny."

Well, so much for that.

But I got great reviews from everybody else.

So I guess those outweighed my daughter's reaction. After which I had a stern talk with her about laughing at people, at least it was good ol' mom and not some stranger.

It's odd that when I was younger, I wanted glasses to fit in, now I can't stand wearing them. But at least I get a few perks out of it. They do make me look smarter.

So now I can honestly say I joined the rest of the family with glasses and won't look like I don't belong when family portrait time rolls around.

A WORD FROM OUR READERS

Bredenberg is a man of integrity

I'm writing to support my friend, Richard Bredenberg, running for re-election to the Grant County School Board. I've known him 40 years and can say he's a man of integrity and will always have the children's best interest at heart. He's taught in the public school system 33 years and 10 years at NKU.

He's worked hard as a member and chairman. The district has built a new elementary school and Career/Technical Center which is amazing. This is a place where our children can get advanced training skills to keep up with higher technology. He's developed strong partnerships with industry and Gateway Community/Technical College in areas of dual credit and advanced manufacturing opportunities. Hired a dynamic new superintendent. Test scores have improved. Doing all this, they've held our tax rates to the lowest in Northern Kentucky.

We must keep up with new technology and prepare our children for higher education and/or the work force. We cannot go back to blackboards and textbooks and expect our children to be prepared.

Proud of him and his accomplishments. Vote to keep Bredenberg on the Grant County School Board on election day on Nov. 6.

Hammons will bring fresh leadership

I have been in the public arena for more than 30 years, most recently serving eight years as state auditor and I am proud to support Wanda Crupper Hammons for State Representative in the 61st District.

Wanda has lived her life in public service and is following in the footsteps of her father, the well respected former state legislator Clay Crupper. As a professional EMT, Wanda has proven her commitment to serving the public with diligence and integrity.

She is exactly the kind of legislator we need in Frankfort. She will bring fresh new leadership, detailed knowledge of Grant, Owen and Gallatin Counties and a commitment to work with others to move the state forward.

Join me in supporting Wanda Crupper Hammons for State Representative on Nov. 6.

Linder is the true conservative voice

I am writing a letter supporting Brian Linder's candidacy in House District 61.

Many times we don't consider how our vote on local issues and candidates can have an effect on national policy. Linder's opponent supports Greg Stumbo, Speaker of the House, who is a supporter of President Obama and his liberal policies.

Therefore, I urge you to vote for Brian Linder who will truly be a conservative voice to represent our views in Frankfort.

No fine print with Linder in office

As is far too often the case, when the time comes for those in office to relinquish their position of influence, their main focus becomes determining their own successor.

Such is the case with this year's race for the 61st state house seat. The popular, well respected, and likely unbeatable,incumbent filed for re-election. Then, at the original filing deadline on January 31, 2012, the current Democratic nominee filed to run. At that time and for the next 10 days she was in fact running against Rep. Adams – the man whose endorsement has since become the central theme of her campaign.

What couldn't be foreseen, though, in the weeks leading up to the original filing deadline was that the deadline to file for office would be extended twice by the Franklin Circuit Court. As the days passed, word began to leak out about the pending withdrawal, giving others additional time to evaluate a potential run. What was further unanticipated was that all the top democratic candidates recruited to run would pass on the opportunity.

Four years ago, we experienced a somewhat similar occurrence regarding the race for Grant County Attorney. A handpicked successor was not only named, but appointed to office. Outraged, the voters of Grant County rebelled and promptly elected the Republican candidate, Joe Taylor.

The lesson is simple: people do not like being denied a choice and do not like having others determine their options for them. Whether such was the case this year is up to each individual voter to decide, but the timing of the filings and withdrawals is a matter of public record and is not subject to opinion.

One thing is certain though, with Brian Linder as State Representative the people of the 61st district will not have to worry if his conservatism will fade when he gets to Frankfort; will not have to worry whether he will fight any encroachment of Obamaism upon the people of Kentucky; and, won't have to worry about reading the "fine print" on anything he says or does. Honesty, integrity and principal matter and your vote for state representative has never mattered more.

DOWN AND DIRTY

Houseplants move indoors

Fall has arrived with two threats of frost so far (but none that materialized for the farm.) Frost is inevitable, of course, it happens every year so let's get organized for the return of our tropical to the not-so-great indoors.

The lush plants that spent the summer out on the patio or are now faced with a less than ideal existence indoors…but there are some things we can do (including lowering our expectations in some cases) to help them get through the winter in the healthiest way possible. Before I move everyone, I first group all the plants destined for indoors so I can treat them with neem oil. Neem is a botanical insecticide that is extremely effective in controlling scale, white fly, mealy bugs, etc. It works better and longer than many conventional systemic products (plus it doesn't stink like Orthene and Malathion.)

The plants that people seem to ask the most questions about when preparing for winter storage are undoubtedly angel's trumpet (Brugmansia), banana trees, bougainvillea, dipladenia, frangipani and the tropical bulbs like cannas. All put on a great deal of growth throughout the summer months so they appear to be too large to manage. But they all can be stored easily, during what would normally be a more dormant period for them if they were in their native environment. You can put all of these plants in a cool, dark place until spring rolls around again.

Out of sight, out of mind

Brugmansia can be left in the pot, cut back by about half and essentially forgotten for the winter. If you can put the plant, container and all, in a cool, out-of-the-way place where you can forget about it, you won't fret over how pathetic it looks in this state. Visit it once a month for a little watering and walk away again. Any banana trees in your possession can be stored, with the roots loosely wrapped in newspaper, on the floor beside the brugmansia.

Jeneen
WICHE
Weekend Gardener

Fragipani, or Plumeria rubra, should not be cut back. Once the leaves drop you can set it next to the angel trumpet and treat it the same way. Dipladenia and bougainvillea are thinned and trimmed and set in a cool room in the basement. They do not go completely dormant because there is sunny window nearby but they do slow down a bit. This is a time to slow down, in fact, so do not try to keep everyone actively growing. They need the rest so do not fertilize and keep watering to a minimum. Shorter days, lower light levels and low humidity trigger physiological responses in plants so we should not make them fight their nature by over watering and fertilizing.

To dig or not to dig?

Bulbs like cannas, caladiums, gladiolus, dahlias and tuberous begonias also cause concern among gardeners this time of the year. These tender bulbs are not as tender as some lead us to believe. I say throw caution to the wind and see what comes back. For the conservative gardeners who insist on digging get it done by the first killing frost.

Once the tender bulbs have been lifted clean them and allow them to air dry for about two weeks. Once they have "cured" they can be placed in storage. Dahlias are more susceptible to drying out so you only need to let these bulbs air dry one day before you pack them in boxes. Dahlias, caladiums and tuberous begonias can all be packed in boxes, between layers of vermiculite or peat moss. Cannas and gladiolus don't need to be covered and can be put in mesh bags or old pantyhose to ensure good air circulation during storage.

Ideal storage temperatures range from around 40 degrees to 50 degress, except for caladiums, which prefer a warmer storage at 60 degrees. These are ideals, not necessities; most bulbs will store successfully in generally "cool" basement. See why I don't dig?

FAITH & VALUES

VERSE OF THE WEEK:

Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf.

1 Peter 4:15-17 (KJV)

RELIGIOUS VIEWS

Pastor Appreciation Month

This month is set aside in the Christian world as Pastor Appreciation Month. From my experience as a pastor, I want to encourage you to consider what most pastors desire when it comes to the people of the church. Take the opportunity this month to show your appreciation to your pastor, but think through what he desires. From my experience, pastors certainly enjoy gifts, money, cards etc…. but pastors that I know desire something a little less obvious. There are four things you can do to show appreciation to your pastor.

• Pray for him and his family. You pastor needs spiritual strength and protection. Their battle is not against people but against the enemy of this world. Your pastor is constantly attacked spiritually and values your prayers for his strength.

Pastor's Corner

DARRELL MORGAN

• Understand what your pastor does. There is nothing more discouraging than when someone makes a joke about how little a pastor works. Often we laugh along with you, but being questioned for our commitment or work ethic really hurts. Pastors have a unique job and responsibility.

• Support him. Your pastor needs your support for his decisions, his vision and the plans God has given him. He doesn't want blind support, but a willingness to do ministry cheering each other on. We have all heard too many people run down their pastor and not support him. That is a sad, discouraging reality. Make sure you are your pastor's biggest supporter.

• Be faithful to your church. Be the strongest, most committed and faithful servant you can be. There is nothing more encouraging to your pastor than to see you growing and serving the Lord faithfully. Be at church regularly; be at the big events of the church. Your pastor will be there and seeing you there will remind him that he is not in this alone.

It is a privilege to serve my church and your pastor feels the same. We appreciate you and all you do for the kingdom of God. The church is a beautiful creation of God. God has called your pastor to serve your church. Remind him this month of how much you appreciate him. It will make a difference.

(Darrell Morgan is is the pastor of Williamstown Baptist Church. He can be reached at 859-824-4102.)

• Don't forget items for Operation Christmas Child.

Harvest Apostolic

• Pastor Pullens preached " Times up for your timeout" (Ezekiel 9:4-6). There are Christians who decide to take a timeout and do what their flesh would have them do. For those who are playing church, or those who are doing their own thing or those with good intentions - hell has enlarged itself. Now is the time to make a choice, because time has ran out on your timeout.

Lystra Church of Christ

• Bro. Josh Grooms preached from First Kings Chapter 20. The king of Syria learned that God can deliver his people in the valley as well as the hills. Often, Christians think they can compartmentalize God by exhibiting different behaviors depending on where they are. They might act differently at church than they do at the office or a party, etc. God wants to be in every compartment of our lives and indeed He does see everything that we do.

Sherman Elementary School students Bryar Webster and Jayden O'Neill have the chance to pet Woody.

Dry Ridge Elementary student Massie Woodyard looks a little unsure as she checks out Woody.

Leigh Anne of Florence, owner of Woody, answers a question about one of her books she wrote and the many adventures they contain at Sherman Elementary School.

Leigh Anne and Woody sit and chat with Joshua Bodenhamer for a moment about what he wants to be when he grows up.

SES students Jacob O'Neill, McKenzye Nelson, Ryan Gilmore, Becca Smith and Carrington Deitz have lots of questions about Woody and his adventures.

Woody: Unleashed - A Kentucky Adventure

Chapter 6

ARCHERY
MOOSE
STATE

Chapter 6

For the second time in my life I had fallen off a horse. Granted, the first time was the horse at the supermarket, but falling off Chester hurt even more. I don't know what I was more upset over – falling off Chester or not getting a picture of the moose.

"It was an elk, Woody, not a moose," Pete said, correcting me when I told him the story. "Elk are prevalent in Kentucky's forests. When you went to grab the camera you lost your balance and fell off. The thump you heard was your helmet hitting the ground."

"Thank goodness for the helmet," I said, happy that Pete had made me wear one.

"Glad to know you're OK," he said. "Sometimes photographing wildlife can hurt them unintentionally. Most animals get spooked when a human approaches them. Sometimes it causes the animal to flee or attack. Please remember that next time."

We finished the trail ride and thanked Pete for all his help.

"I hope we can come back soon to ride," I said to Pete as we were leaving.

"We would love to have you back," Pete responded, "but Kentucky is horse country. There are places all over the state to go horseback riding. Go to Getoutky.com to find a list." I wrote down the web site, excited about the possibility to go horseback riding again.

After sleeping under the stars and eating a healthy breakfast of granola and fresh strawberries, we opened up our next Rx card from Doc Albert. Dad asked me to read the card. I cleared my throat and read loudly.

"While you could find countless activities in the Daniel Boone National Forest and Eastern Kentucky area, it's time to move to another region. Dad: Drive north on Highway 11, then go left on Highway 9 for 42 miles. Then you'll see an intersection. Your new trainer will meet you. Pups: Use the brochures I've included and make a list of all the activities you can do in Kentucky. Include where the activities are located."

As Dad drove and Mom rode shotgun, Chloe and I read the Kentucky brochures. We were amazed to find out some interesting facts about the Bluegrass.

"Listen," Chloe said, grabbing everyone's attention. "This brochure says Kentucky has 39,732 square miles of land with commercial forest land occupying12.7 million acres; has more miles of running water than any other state except Alaska, and 1,100 miles are used for commercial transportation. And Kentucky has 52 state parks, including 24 recreation state parks, 17 Kentucky resort parks (more than any other state) and 11 historic state parks."

"With all of that, there is no excuse for us not to exercise while we enjoy the state," Mom said, looking at us from the front seat.

"Unfortunately, it sounds like we need exercise," Chloe offered. "Kentucky ranks sixth in the nation for having the most obese residents, second for losing our teeth, and it has a high rate of cancer deaths and more smokers than any other state."

I hadn't wanted to change my eating habits and exercise more, but that information convinced me it was necessary – not only for me but for my state. I browsed the pages of "Kentucky's Guide to Unbridled Adventure." There were pages of exciting things to do. I rambled off a long list of activities we could do and never leave Kentucky: "skydiving, mountain biking, canoeing, kayaking, caving, rock climbing, zip-lining, water skiing, sailing, scuba diving, fishing, shooting, archery … ."

"We can do all of that in Kentucky?" Mom asked, stopping me before I finished.

"Yes, ma'am," I answered, excited at all our state offered. Chloe and I counted the listings in the book. There were 358 places in Kentucky where we could participate in various activities. "Mom, can you believe there are 58 places we could canoe or kayak in Kentucky?" We were still counting the places where we could find adventure when Dad said, "We're here."

Uh-oh! I wiped my eyes, shut them and opened them again to make sure I was seeing correctly. I had obviously read the Rx card wrong. Talk about being in a pickle!

Woody thought the animal he saw was a moose since it had big antlers. What others animals have antlers? Make a list. Compare your list with a friend's list.

In this chapter Woody learned Kentucky has 52 state parks. Look at a Kentucky map and locate 3 state parks that are close to you. Now locate 3 state parks that are the farthest away from you

The pups also saw the list of 358 activities they could do in Kentucky. If they did one activity a week until they finished, how many years would it take them? (Hint: There are 52 weeks in one year.

"Skydiving, Mountain biking, canoeing, kayaking, caving, rock climbing, zip lining, water skiing, sailing, scuba diving, fishing, shooting, archery…" Woody learned about numerous activities that he could do right here in our state. Looking at that list, which activity would you like to do most? Which activity would you like to do least?

Dad's directions were to drive north on Highway 11 and then turn left on Highway 9 for 22 miles. Looking at your Kentucky map, where do you predict the family will go?

Lady Braves, Lady Demons look to next season

By Haleigh Jacobs
Sports Correspondent

Both the Williamstown Lady Demons and the Grant County Lady Braves volleyball teams ended their seasons on Oct. 9 in the 32nd District Tournament held at Grant County High School.

Grant County faced the undefeated Simon Kenton Lady Pioneers, losing the game in three sets 25-9, 25-8, and 25-12.

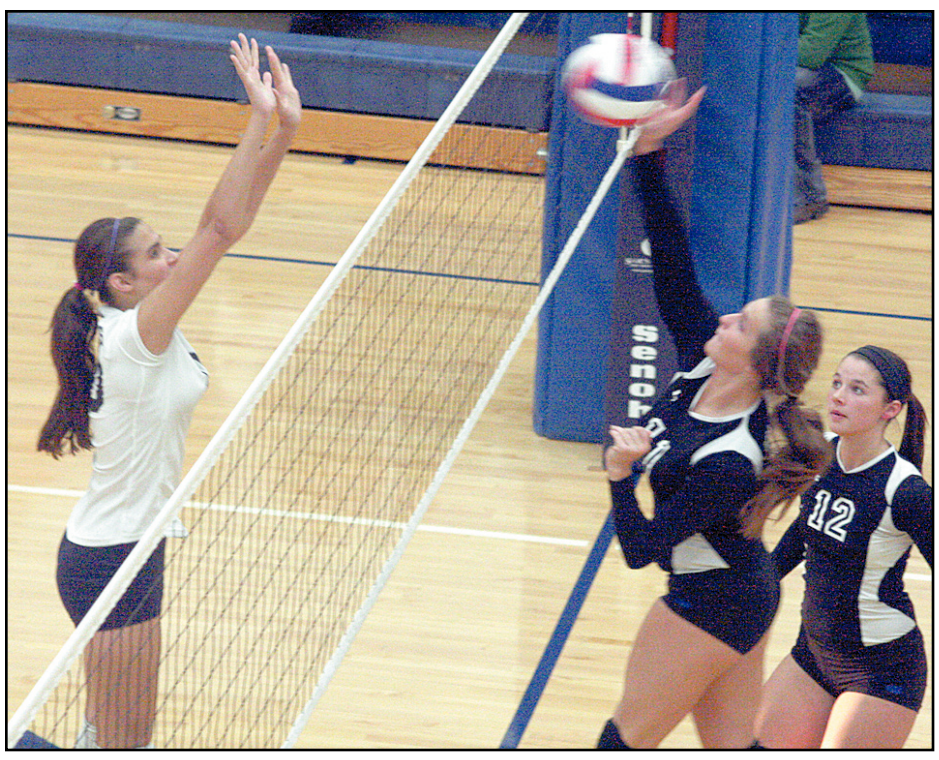

Williamstown met rival Walton-Verona, losing 25-13, 25-8, and 25-15.

Both teams are proud of their accomplishments this season and look forward to improving next year.

Seniors hope that their legacies will inspire future teams.

"I'd like to leave knowing that I was a leader and loved on that team. I want to be missed," said Lady Braves Taylor Cummins. "I love being a senior and I'm excited to see my career for volleyball that has yet to come"

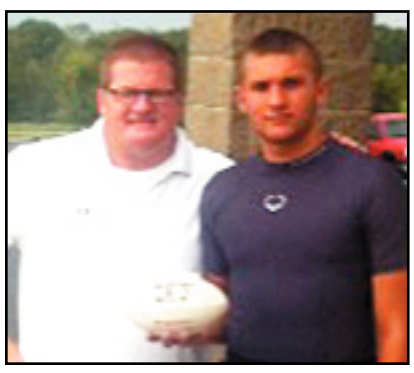

In the championship game held on Oct. 11, Simon Kenton swept Walton-Verona to win the tournament.

ATHLETES OF THE WEEK

FOOTBALL PLAYER OF THE WEEK
is sponsored by Carolyn Thompson of State Farm Insurance.

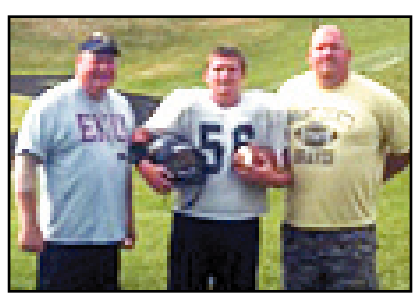

FOOTBALL PLAYER OF THE WEEK - Shelby Caudill was selected as the GCHS Braves Player of the Week for his work on the field in the Braves' victory over Western Hills (Aug. 31). Presenting the award is Coach Kevin Siple.

FOOTBALL PLAYER OF THE WEEK - Tyler Robinson, a senior running back, is the player of the week for his effort in the South Oldham game (Sept. 28.) He was able to put up big numbers, despite being out six weeks with an ankle injury. He rushed for 101 yards and 23 carries. Coach Kevin Siple presented the award.

FOOTBALL PLAYER OF THE WEEK - Quentin Haubner was selected as the GCHS Braves Player of the Week for his eight tackles and two interceptions in the Braves' victory over Waggner (Sept. 7). Presenting the award is David Dransman, the Grant County defensive coach.

FOOTBALL PLAYER OF THE WEEK - Tyler Caudill, a senior, is the Player of the Week for his shutout against Greenup County (Sept. 14). Caudill is a captain and defensive end for the Braves. He is presented the award by assistant coaches.

ELECTION NEWS

Meet The Candidates 2012

WILLIAMSTOWN CITY COUNCIL

Kenny Ball

TRUCK STOP - "I do support a truck stop. It's a tough economic time and anything that's going to create jobs and bring growth and development to our community I think is going to be a positive."

UTILITIES - "There's some good in being your own utility business. You typically have a faster response if there is something wrong in the area like a water main break or a power outage. But, with that speedy service sometimes it does cost a little bit more. But, I'm always up for suggestions to ensure that we're giving the right price."

Kim Crupper

TRUCK STOP - "I'm one who originally supported the Love's Travel Plaza coming to Williamstown back in February. Their location on the west side of the Interstate would be a good location on the Barnes Road exit. It wouldn't affect traffic in any way."

UTILITIES - "It's good for us to have our own utilities. There are a lot of cities around Kentucky that don't have the luxury of owning their own utility systems. It's been a great financial strength for the city of Williamstown. The Internet system is second to nobody. It performs first-rate. Our electric and water and sewer rates is competitive to any city around."

Eddie Gabbert

TRUCK STOP - "I'm not for a truck stop. I think the negatives that would come from a truck stop definitely outweigh the positives."

UTILITIES - "We have a good Internet system. We have good cable. When the power is out, we have good response to that. A lot of times, when you look at other cities, their rates are much higher than ours."

Troy Gutman

TRUCK STOP - "I do support a truck stop. My misgivings about it is the location that's being proposed. I think we need to be receptive to all business willing to locate in Williamstown. The question I think the council is going to have to wrestle with is whether or not Barnes Road is the best place for it."

UTILITIES - "Utility costs are one of the main reasons I got into this race. We have to get those under control. It's the only way we're going to attract more businesses to locate to our areas."

Robert Perry

TRUCK STOP - "I'm against the truck stop. We already hashed this out one time in the first of the summer. We had a packed meeting filled with approximately 60 citizens and not one person spoke in favor of the truck stop. If you are elected by the people, I think you should act on their behalf."

UTILITIES - "I think we need to be in the utility business. I have done some studies in the past years. Our rates are right up with what Duke Power and so forth is. Several years ago, we had a large ice storm and a large outage of electric and everybody in Williamstown had their power back within an hour. There were Duke customers within the city limits who waited several days."

Jacqalynn Riley

TRUCK STOP - "It has pros and cons for the community. I feel long-term we need to identify the future vision of Barnes Road. As I've went asked those citizens, 40 percent are for the truck stop, 30 percent were against and 30 percent were undecided."

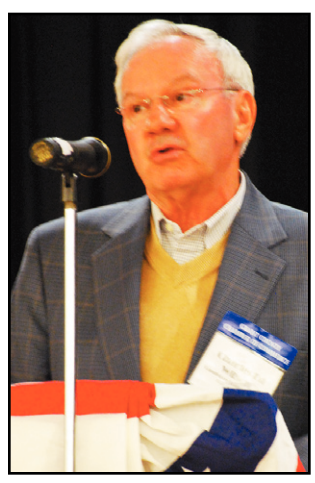

UTILITIES - "Many of my friends are employed by the city so I struggle with that, but I also think that maybe there's things we can work to address to get more affordable. I'd like to go through a full analysis of that data."

Liz Wagoner

TRUCK STOP - "Without being involved in the discussions going on, I do not know all the facts about the truck stop. I don't know what revenue generation it would bring into the community. I don't know what benefits it's being sold on."

UTILITIES - "Managing it ourselves I think allows us sometimes to have a better quality. I would have to look at the value we're getting with the quality versus the cost."

Charles Ed Wilson

TRUCK STOP - "I do not favor the truck stop at this time. I've reviewed it carefully. I visited Love's Truck Stop. They are a reputable truck stop."

UTILITIES - "Based on my three years of council, I would continue with the current utility setup that we have. I think we're competitive with other utility providers. The added value to Williamstown to having their own utilities for many years is that experience is very valuable to uptime regarding our cable, electricity and water and all of that. I do think we need to review rates and be as competitive as we can."

Stanley Woodyard

TRUCK STOP - "Yes, I'm one of the original supporters of it. I checked into numerous places and went to visit several. All of the feedback from officials that has truck stops they say it's one of the best things they've had and no problem whatsoever. I don't see any other location that would be more suitable than that."

UTILITIES - "The utilities is comparable to others in the area when you check other bills. All of our utilities, cable and everything, is in line or lower."

DRY RIDGE CITY COUNCIL

Judy Curry

LONG TERM PLANNING - "We did a good job with the budget this year, but our employees did not receive raises and we pretty much adopted the same budget as we had last year. We all are dedicated to seeing that we didn't incur more debt because the budget is stretched to the limit right now."

BUSINESS CLIMATE - "We would like to see more small businesses on Main Street and in the mall. We would like to see those empty businesses filled at the mall so that would increase our tax base. I would like, personally, to see more police coverage at night because we have had instances of crime at night."

Kenny Edmondson

LONG TERM PLANNING - "The long-term plan right now is the fire district. Maybe, I should rephrase that because I want that now. The city taxpayers of Dry Ridge cannot afford to keep paying the taxes for the ambulance to keep running calls out to the county."

BUSINESS CLIMATE- The curb appeal is one thing I've harped on and getting signs taken down and making it look presentable when people do get off the exit. Our Internet is there for us to use and my goal is to get on the Internet and try to get more businesses into our city. I'm glad to see Williamstown is looking at the truck stop. I wish we had something that big coming our way."

SCHOOL BOARD

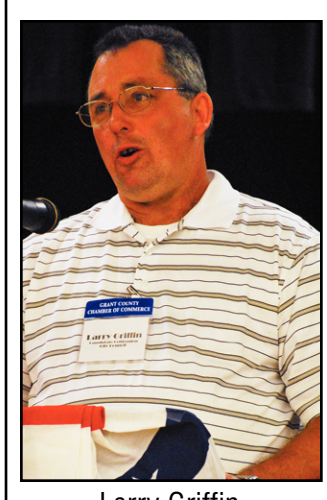

Richard Bredenberg

TAXES- "Obviously, taxes are an issue. We're in a position where we do not feel like it is appropriate to raise taxes, at least to a burdensome level. But, at the same time, we have a balance that we need to achieve between the needs of the students and the needs of the community."

PRESSING CONCERN: "We have to make the community more aware of the financial challenges we are facing currently. A lot of people have complained, for example, about the lack of new textbooks in the schools. One issue with that is the state has reduced the amount of textbook funding schools receive from several million to zero."

CRITTENDEN CITY COUNCIL

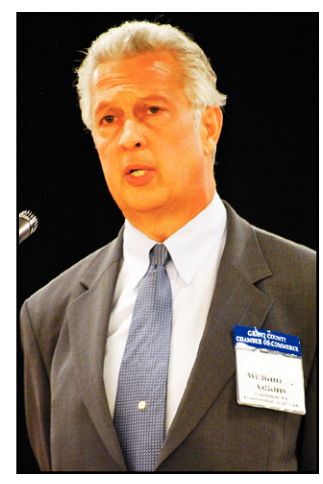

Larry Griffin

LONG TERM PLAN - "I think a long-term plan includes better fire and ambulances to bring in more safety for the city, which will bring in more business. Keep taxes low where companies will be willing and make our city attractive."

BUDGET SURPLUS -"Idle money is no good to no one. We need a certain amount of surplus, but not $2 million. That's pretty high. We've got to allow for harder times when they hit. The positive part of that is Crittenden is in good shape financially, but we got to lessen that and if nothing else, lower tax rates."

U.S. CONGRESS 4TH DISTRICT

William Adkiins

MEDICAL CARE - "Right now, our nation's medical care is 37th on the globe and we pay twice as much as any other industrialized nation. We've got to do something about that because the word unsustainable applies to our medical care system. Giving the single payer system to the government will permit them to negotiate the price down and control costs."

EDUCATION: "The teachers and the children should be assessed locally by the people who know them. Having some bureaucrat in Washington assess some school in Williamstown or Grant County is ludicrous. They don't know what's going on and they don't know the individuals."

EDITOR'S NOTE:
The candidates found on page 1 and page 11 of this issue participated in a "Meet The Candidates" forum sponsored by the Grant County News and Grant County Chamber of Commerce.
If you do not see a candidate's photo or comments, it is because they chose not to attend.
Watch an upcoming issue of the Grant County News for more candidate information including profiles candidates were mailed and asked to return.
Candidates failing to meet the deadline will not be included in this upcoming special election coverage.

Halloween offers local treats

By Bryan Marshall
Staff Writer

The Halloween season is in full gear throughout Grant County with several festive events offering treats for all.

The annual Monster Mash, also known as Halloween in the Park, is set for 6:30 p.m. Oct. 26 at Grant County Park in Crittenden.

The free costumed event, sponsored by the Grant County News and Grant County Parks and Recreation, will feature lots of candy given out by community businesses, organizations, churches and more in the cattle barn.

A puppet show, hot chocolate and popcorn will be provided by Knoxville Baptist Church in shelter 3.

A costume contest will take place immediately following the candy line with prizes provided by H&R Block.

Anyone who would like to be a candy giver can sign up at www.grantcountyparks.com. For more information, call 428-4500.

Other Halloween-themed events include:

• The Grant County Extension Office will host a haunted trail at dusk each night on Oct. 19, Oct. 20, Oct. 26 and Oct. 27 on Baton Rouge Road in Williamstown.

There will be games in the cattle barn and a hayride to the haunted trail. Food and drink will be available and admission is $5 per carload.

• H.O.P.E. (Helping Out People Everywhere) will be hosting a trunk or treat for children from 6 to 8 p.m. Oct. 20 in the former Papa's Restaurant location in front of the old Food Lion in Dry Ridge.

The event is open to business and churches to set up in the parking lot to hand out candy.

For more information, call 824-0011 or 859-814-6915.

• Howl-A-Ween parade, hosted by Tractor Supply, Friends Of The Grant County Animal Shelter and Studio 25 Pet Salon.

Event registration will start at 11 a.m. Oct. 27 at Tractor Supply and will cost $5 to enter a pet in the contest.

Every pet will receive a treat bag and proceeds will go to the Friends of the Shelter.

There will be prizes for Cutest Howl-a-ween pet, My Little Monster (scariest), Most Original Pooch and Best Pet/Owner Costume Combo. Pet photos will be taken for $5 and Studio 25 will be doing nail trims and sell homemade dog treats for $5.

Tractor Supply will be hosting a pumpkin decorating competition for kids after the pet event.

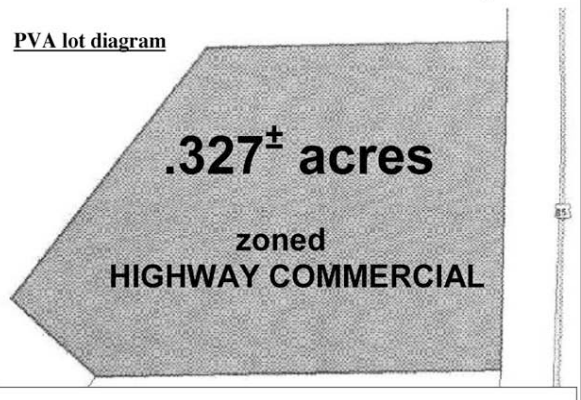

• Trick-or-treat times will be from 6 to 8 p.m. Oct. 31 for the cities of Corinth, Crittenden, Dry Ridge and Williamstown.

RECENT DEATHS

Donna Whelan, 69

Donna Ruark Whelan, 69, of Crittenden, died Friday, Oct. 12, 2012, at her residence.

She was the daughter of the late James Lewis and Edna Elizabeth Arend Ruark.

She was a former Cincinnati Bell Telephone operator, a food service worker for the Grant County Board of Education, and a member of the All Saints Catholic Church in Walton.

Survivors include her husband of 42 years, Joe Whelan of Crittenden; daughters, Leslie Jenkins of Brandenburg and Samantha Whelan of Derry, N.H.; grandchildren, Joseph Jenkins of Ft. Campbell and Jessica Jenkins of Bowling Green; a brother, Jim Ruark of Crittenden and sisters Gail Bowen and Joan Wagner, both of Crittenden.

Funeral services were held on Oct. 16 at the Elliston-Stanley Funeral Home in Crittenden.

Burial was in the Hill Crest Cemetery in Dry Ridge.

The "Gingerbread Girls" served as active and honorary casket bearers.

The family suggests memorials to the church or charity of the donor's choice.

Annette Benton, 73

Annette Benton, 73, of Crittenden, died Wednesday, Oct. 10, 2012, at St. Elizabeth Hospice in Edgewood.

Survivors include husband, James Benton, Jr. of Crittenden, sons, Edward A. Propes of Jacksonville, Fla, Terry D. Propes of Homerville, Ga. and Roger Propes of Valdosta, Ga.; daughters, Claudia Propes of Homerville, Ga. and Annette Propes of Geneva, Ala., and a sister, Evene Cole of Jacksonville, Fla.

She was preceded in death by three brothers, Allen "Punk" Burroughs, Buck Burrough, and Jiggs Burroughs.

Funeral services were held Oct. 15 at the Elliston-Stanley Funeral Home in Crittenden.

Burial was in the Kentucky Veterans Cemetery North in Williamstown.

The Grant County News offers personalized paid obituaries to families who wish to include more information. The News still provides a standard obituary listing for free. All obituary information must be submitted through a funeral home or crematorium for verification. For more information, call 859-824-3343.

Medicare Part D offers free comparison assistance

The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services encourage Medicare beneficiaries to compare their Medicare coverage options each year. It is important to review options for 2013 since significant changes have been made to many of the Medicare Prescription drug plans and Medicare Advantage plans. Open enrollment runs from Oct. 15 through Dec. 7, 2012. If you would like to change your Medicare Advantage plan and/or drug plan, it must be done during this time frame.

The State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP) is offering prescription drug plan comparison assistance for Medicare beneficiaries. The clinic in Grant County is being offered on Tuesday, Nov. 13 at the Grant County Public Library at 201 Barnes Road in Williamstown. There is no cost to attend the clinic, but you must make an appointment by calling 859-824-2080. Bring your red, white, and blue Medicare card with you to your appointment, along with a list of names and dosage amounts of prescription medications you are currently taking.

If you cannot make it to the clinic or the clinic is filled, call the SHIP hotline at 1-866-516-3051 and request a comparison by mail. Requests should be made by Nov. 15, 2012.

Immediate Full Time Positions Available

At Itron, we're dedicated to delivering end-to-end smart grid and smart distribution solutions to electric, gas and water utilities around the globe. Our company is the world's leading provider of smart metering, data collection and utility software systems, with over 8,000 utilities worldwide relying on our technology to optimize the delivery and use of energy and water. Our offerings include electricity, gas, water and heat meters; network communication technology; collection systems and related software applications; and professional services.

Itron's Owenton KY (Gas Division), located between Cincinnati, Louisville and Lexington (www.northcentralky.com) has the following immediate openings to support growth and new product development:

Manufacturing Engineer II (2 jobs available): These positions are for an experienced engineer who enjoys being part of a great team and thrives on the challenges of maintaining ownership of production lines while developing new manufacturing equipment, processes and control systems. Opportunities available on either shift: Monday – Thursday Night Shift 7:30PM – 6:00AM or Friday - Sunday Day Shift 6:00AM – 6:00PM. When applying, please specify which shift you would prefer.

PLC Technician II (2 jobs available): These positions are needed to provide technical support, troubleshooting skills, and maintain the electronic production equipment at the facility. Opportunities available on either shift: Monday – Thursday Night Shift 7:30 PM-6 :00 AM or Friday – Sunday Day Shift 6:00 AM = 6:00 PM. When applying, please specify which shift you would prefer.

Facilities Technician (2 jobs available): This position is key to the maintenance of production equipment and the facility itself and will assist with maintaining daily operations of the physical facility. Supports maintenance mechanics and facilities staff by performing handyman maintenance duties such as furniture moves, simple electrical projects, spot painting and/or cleaning, light construction and/or exterior cleanup. Opportunities available on either shift: Monday – Thursday Night Shift 7:30PM – 6:00AM or Friday - Sunday Day Shift 6:00AM – 6:00PM. When applying, please specify which shift you would prefer.

Quality Engineer: Experienced engineer to assist with developing, evaluating, revising, and applying technical quality assurance protocols/methods to inspect and test in-process raw materials, production equipment, and finished products.

Sr. Mechanical RD Project Manager: Experience in Mechanical Engineering and Design. The role of the Project Manager is to plan, execute, and finalize projects according to strict deadlines and within budget.

Itron is an EOE AA Employer. If you require an accommodation in order to apply to this position, please contact Accessibility@itron.com.

With nearly 10,000 employees doing business in more than 130 countries, Itron empowers utilities to responsibly and efficiently manage energy and water resources. To learn more about each of these opportunities and to realize a sustainable future, start here: www.itron.com.
All candidates must apply on website.

Brandy L. Klette, et al. DEFENDANTS

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale entered in the Grant Circuit Court on the 11th day of October, 2012, I will sell at public auction on the front steps of the Grant County Courthouse, the property described herein located in Grant County, Kentucky, on WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 2012, at the hour of 11:00 a.m., prevailing time, and more particularly described as follows:
Situated in the State of Kentucky, in the County of Grant and bounded as follows:
The following described real estate, County of Grant, and Commonwealth of Kentucky, to-wit: Being Lot No. Seven (7), Greenview Estates Subdivision, Section 1, as the same is shown in Plat Cabinet #1, Slide 363 of the Grant County Clerk's Records at Williamstown, Kentucky. Subject to restrictions and easements of record including restrictive covenants for Greenview Estates Subdivision Recorded at Deed Book 252 Page 390, Grant County Clerk's Office, Williamstown, Kentucky. Being the same property conveyed to Kirby L. Klette and Brandy L. Klette, husband and wife, by virtue of a deed from Whalen Construction Partnership, dated October 06, 2000, filed October 18, 2000, recorded in Deed Book D264, Page 340, County Clerk's Office, Grant County, Kentucky.
Property Address: 242 Fairway Drive, Dry Ridge, Kentucky 41035
There is not a mobile home, double wide and/or manufactured home included in the sale.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale is the principal sum of $113,897.08, together with accrued interest thereon to March 1, 2011, and interest thereafter at the rate of 3.875% from March 1, 2011 (per diem interest in the amount of $12.09) until the entire amount has been paid in full; plus late fees, costs, attorney's fees, and other advances made pursuant to the terms of the Note and Agreement.

The real estate shall be sold on the terms of ten (10%) percent cash at the time of the sale, except that said deposit shall be waived if the Plaintiff is the successful bidder at the sale, and the balance on a credit of thirty (30) days bearing interest at the rate of twelve (12%) percent per annum from date of sale. When the purchase price is paid in full, the deed will be delivered to the purchaser. It is further provided that the property sold includes insurable improvements and the successful bidder at said sale shall, at bidder's own expense, carry fire and extended insurance coverage on said improvements from the date of sale until the purchase price is fully paid, to the extent of the Court appraised value of said improvements or the unpaid balance of the purchase price whichever is less, as a minimum, with a loss payable clause to the Commissioner of the Grant Circuit Court or the Plaintiff herein. Failure of the purchaser to effect such insurance shall not affect the validity of the sale or the purchaser's liability thereunder, but shall entitle, but not require, the Plaintiff, to effect said insurance and furnish the policy or evidence thereof to the Commissioner if it so desires, and the premium thereon or the proper portion thereof shall be charged to the purchaser as purchaser's costs.

The aforesaid property shall be sold free and clear of all liens and encumbrances, except the following:

Being the same property conveyed to Christopher R. Dade and Maria A. Bellizzi Dade, husband and wife who acquired title, with rights of survivorship, by virtue of a deed from Gary Sean Delaney and Keisha Whiteker-Delaney, husband and wife, dated January 5, 2007, filed January 17, 2007, recorded in Deed Book D323, Page 47, County Clerk's Office, Grant County, Kentucky.
Property Address: 612 Falmouth Street, Williamstown, Kentucky 41097
There is not a mobile home, double wide and/or manufactured home included in the sale.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale is the principal sum of $157,793.86, together with accrued interest thereon to January 1, 2012, and interest thereafter at the rate of 4.5% from January 1, 2012 (per diem interest in the amount of $19.45) until the entire amount has been paid in full; plus late fees, costs, attorney's fees, and other advances made pursuant to the terms of the Note.

The real estate shall be sold on the terms of ten (10%) percent cash at the time of the sale, except that said deposit shall be waived if the Plaintiff is the successful bidder at the sale, and the balance on a credit of thirty (30) days bearing interest at the rate of twelve (12%) percent per annum from date of sale. When the purchase price is paid in full, the deed will be delivered to the purchaser. It is further provided that the property sold includes insurable improvements and the successful bidder at said sale shall, at bidder's own expense, carry fire and extended insurance coverage on said improvements from the date of sale until the purchase price is fully paid, to the extent of the Court appraised value of said improvements or the unpaid balance of the purchase price whichever is less, as a minimum, with a loss payable clause to the Commissioner of the Grant Circuit Court or the Plaintiff herein. Failure of the purchaser to effect such insurance shall not affect the validity of the sale or the purchaser's liability thereunder, but shall entitle, but not require, the Plaintiff, to effect said insurance and furnish the policy or evidence thereof to the Commissioner if it so desires, and the premium thereon or the proper portion thereof shall be charged to the purchaser as purchaser's costs.

The aforesaid property shall be sold free and clear of all liens and encumbrances, except the following:
a. All unpaid state, county and city real estate taxes for the year 2012;
b. Easements, restrictions, and stipulations of record;
c. Assessments for public improvements levied against the property;
d. Any facts which an inspection and/or accurate survey of the property may disclose.

FIRE

When firefighters went to the back of the park to hook to a fire hydrant to battle the blaze, they noticed a small Little League concession stand was also on fire, which was also a total loss.

A canine unit from Boone County was called to the scene, as well as the Kentucky State Police Arson investigator.

In May, a two-story concession stand at the front of the park was destroyed in a suspicious blaze. There is still a $1,000 reward posted by the Kentucky Arson Task Force for any information leading to an arrest in that fire.

"The thing that gets to me is this is impossible to replace," said Tabatha Clemons, Grant County's Parks and Recreation Director. "You can rebuild a building, but not one that was made that way. This was living history."

Fires destroyed this former black school and a concession stand at Grant County Park over the weekend. Police say the fires were arson. Photo by Jamie Baker-Nantz

The school building, a historic structure known as A Rosenwald School, or a historic-segregated school was built in 1923 with funds from the Rosenwald Foundation, which piloted a rural school building program for black students. It was open from 1925 to 1958.

The one-room schoolhouse used to sit on Assembly Church Road in Dry Ridge before it was moved to the park.

A grant from the National Trust for Historic Preservation and Lowe's, was used to restore the building, which contained desks from actual students who attended school there, a blackboard and photos from Grant County families.

An antique display case inside the building contained artifacts, which belonged to Della Jones, a black woman from Williamstown who lived to be 105 years old. The display case and some books inside were consumed by the fire.

Many of those artifacts and photos survived the fire because Taylor did not leave the originals in the building.

Taylor kept the museum open two Saturdays a month and was at the park on Oct. 13. She said there was a steady stream of visitors, including students from Northern Kentucky University, who were working with her on an oral history project. The students also have plans for a Web site, art panels and brochures about the museum.

"This isn't going to stop me," Taylor said. "I'll have the students finish their project, while I look for a new location."

Taylor said she called one of the former student's of the school and told her about the fire.

"She said, 'you know we're used to things like this,'" Taylor said.

Taylor said the church and school were targeted in the summer and pained with racial slurs, but police do not believe the fire was racially motivated.

"I don't believe it's racially motivated because they burnt the other concession building the same night," said Grant Connty Sheriff Chuck Dills. "More than likely if it were a hate crime, some group or organization would be claiming responsibility."

Dills said his department wants to find out who is responsible for the damage.

"We're going to follow up on every lead and tip to see where it goes," Dills said.

Since Taylor's work began on documenting Grant County black families about three years ago, she said her family has been worried about her safety.

"Their fear is that it's someone who doesn't like the attention I'm bringing to the black community," Taylor said.

Grant County at one time had as many as 790 black families.

Taylor said the museum may have suffered a set back, but she's not ready to give up her interest in seeing that the history of black families is preserved.

"My family will tell you this has taken almost three years of my life, but it's been worth it because I've met great people in the process. I just can't believe anyone, even a bunch of kids, could be this evil. Why would anyone do this?" she asked, staring at the smoldering rubble.

Anyone with information about the fires, should call the Grant County Sheriff's Office at 859-824-3333.

Williamstown council to decide truck stop's fate

The Williamstown City Council will be voting on whether to change the city's zoning ordinance to allow a struck stop in a highway commercial zone on Tuesday, Oct. 16.

Representatives from Love's Truck Stop were scheduled to appear to ask for the zone change.

It is the same request they made of the city in February and in a 3-2 decision were denied the text amendment.

Residents for and against the proposal were expected to speak at the meeting.

Results from the meeting were not available at press time. Go to www.grantky.com for results from the meeting and see next week's News for an update.

NRA

"I was the only candidate to be endorsed by the NRA April 17, 2012," Hammons said at the forum. "(The sign) says the only candidate to receive the endorsement April 17, 2012. I received the endorsement from the NRA. Mr. Linder has not."

Linder, who dubbed the controversy NRAgate, has not claimed he has received an endorsement from the NRA rather he said both candidates have received an AQ rating, the highest grade a candidate without a voting record can receive, from the organization.

"You don't have to listen to me," Linder said to the forum audience. "You don't have to listen to Mrs. Hammons. Call the NRA. Go to their Website. What you will find is that we have received the same rating for this race. An endorsement is not an endorsement for life. She was endorsed in her primary. In my primary, I ran against a very strong pro-2nd amendment candidate in Scott Bruce. We both had AQ ratings. In this race, go to their Website or call the NRA, you'll find the truth."

The debate continued with a rebuttal by Hammons.

"In March, I got the endorsement papers and the questionnaire and I filled it out," she said. "He had the very same opportunity and he did not. So, around August and September, he's decided I need an endorsement. You can't get an endorsement for two people, only one person, and Wanda got it. So, they decided to send us both a letter saying we're just going to rate you both because Wanda already received the endorsement. Wanda received the endorsement, the only candidate to receive the endorsement. I am a NRA member. I have my hunting and fishing license and my permit to carry license."

Linder said Hammons' assertion that he did not fill out his NRA survey is false.

While Linder agrees that Hammons' signs are correct, he said they are misleading.

"I am not a candidate that you need to read the small print on," Linder said to scattered applause.

After the forum, the NRA Political Victory Fund sent out an e-mail to clear up any confusion by clarifying the organization's stance for the race for state representative in the 61st district.

"Due to the strong questionnaire responses received from both candidates for the general election, the NRA has not endorsed either candidate and has assigned AQ ratings to their respective campaigns."

The e-mail, which wishes both Linder and Hammons good luck, explains that the AQ rating should be viewed "very favorably" by voters.

At the forum, the tension continued after the NRA debate in the closing statements by the candidates as Hammons criticized Linder for allegedly not showing up for fiscal court budget meetings and missing a recent Owen County Farm Bureau meeting.

"I was just at a meeting the other day in Owen County and they kept saying, 'Mr. Linder is on his way. He's on his way.' We lingered on and gave door prizes," Hammons said. "He never showed up until the very minute he did show up and he chewed out the Farm Bureau gentleman. Let me tell you, his magistrate record shows it. His attendance record is very poor and we don't need someone in Frankfort like that. We have a (Sen.) David Williams and we don't need another one."

Linder responded by saying he missed the meeting in Owen County because he was at a Grant County Fiscal Court meeting in his capacity as magistrate.

"I have a duty to the current taxpayers who elected me two years ago," Linder said.

In Hammons' final words of the night, she expressed her disappointment in Linder, which received a gasp over the audience and several boos.

"I'm very disappointed in you, Brian Linder," she said. "I never thought you would be like that. I thought you were of a Christian faith."

Linder did not respond to Hammons' comments in his closing statement, opting to tell voters why wants their vote.

"Our state, this economy is broken," he said. "There needs to be a fundamental change to the size, efficiency and the reach of govern-
